EVENT AT A GLANCE

Inspiration lies at every turn.

There's one night of the year where art and design intersect: The River North Design District's Fall Gallery Walk. For this special event, the River North Design District creates pairings with Chicago's top interior designers, international artists, galleries, and design showrooms to create amazing backdrops for the biggest party of the year.

At each showroom, a designer creates a gorgeous vignette using work by internationally acclaimed artists showcasing their art in a live setting.

This is the kind of evening that never gets boring, packed full of destinations where shoes serve two purposes: dancing and walking. The walking part includes 17 locations in Chicago's River North neighborhood. Each showroom is open late and showcases its designer's vignette, along with entertainment, music, food, and libations. Dancing is encouraged whenever the mood strikes.

The streets are flooded with art and design enthusiasts, and galleries and showrooms are buzzing with activity.

GALLERY VICTOR FEATURING BRUNO SURDO* | 300 W. SUPERIOR ST.

Gallery VICTOR presents Honoring Resilience, a special exhibition commemorating the 25th anniversary of September 11, 2001, centered around Bruno Surdo's monumental painting Tragedy, Memory and Honor.

Measuring 9 by 35 feet, the five-panel work reflects on loss, courage, mourning, and the resilience of the human spirit through Surdo's signature large-scale figurative style. The exhibition also includes artifacts collected from Ground Zero during cleanup efforts, preparatory sketches, video documentation, photography, and historical materials that provide a deeper context surrounding the painting's creation. The exhibition offers visitors an opportunity to engage with a historically significant work that continues to serve as a powerful reflection on memory, compassion, and collective resilience.

GOESLING GROUP* AT MOBILI MÖBEL FEATURING DIANA NOH* | 300 W. SUPERIOR ST.

A Layered Retreat of Tension, Warmth, and Whimsy explores the balance between tension and tranquility, creating a space that feels both emotionally engaging and deeply restorative. A palette of warm browns, creams, grays, and blacks is enriched through plush upholstery, woven textiles, metallic accents, and sculptural furnishings, while electrified citron tones introduce moments of contrast and energy. Diffused lighting and cocoon-like textures soften the atmosphere, as playful patterns, surrealist-inspired artwork, and whimsical objects spark curiosity throughout. The result is an intimate, expressive environment where comfort, intrigue, and quiet sophistication coexist.

SUCHER STUDIOS AT BULTHAUP FEATURING BARBARA THEILE AND LEE ROTH CUSTOM WOODWORKING | 313 W. SUPERIOR ST. SUITE 109

Bauhaus by Hand is an immersive design-driven evening where modernism and craftsmanship converge inside the bulthaup showroom. Hosted by Jenn Sourounis and featuring Jennifer Sucher of Sucher Studios, woodworker Lee Roth, and ceramicist Barbara Theile, the installation layers sculptural woodwork, expressive ceramics, textiles, vintage elements, and contemporary German cabinetry into a richly textured environment. Guests will enjoy cocktails, bites, and an atmosphere designed for gathering, conversation, and discovery. Part salon, part supper party, and part installation, the event celebrates creativity, collaboration, and the art of living beautifully.

NATALIA SEN INTERIORS AT GLENVIEW HAUS FEATURING CARLOS RIVERA | 303 W. ERIE ST. SUITE 100

Every great home begins with a moment—crossing the threshold. In “The Art of Arrival,” Chicago-based photographer Carlos Rivera captures that instant of transition, where exterior fades and something personal begins. Natalia Sen Interiors curates the scene with intention, weaving together furnishings, layered textiles, and considered objects that transform a simple entryway into a space that whispers welcome. Glenview Haus defines the moment itself, transforming the door from a functional element into a statement of identity—the first impression that sets the tone for everything beyond. Step inside and experience how the entrance to a home becomes its most powerful design moment.
